EXPLANATIONS.

 indicate such Hyacinths and Polyanthus Narcissus as are proper either for pots or water; those marked * succeed better in pots. Those without any designation are for the open flower-borders. These remarks apply to the first 16 pages of the Catalogue; viz. from Hyacinths to Winter Aconites, the whole of which are likewise proper for the open borders.

The Amaryllidaceæ (page 16) are chiefly greenhouse or stove plants; the hardy kinds are designated. The Iridaceæ are proper for the greenhouse or frame, but they succeed very well in the open ground with a little protection.

October and November are the best months for general planting. Tris and Fritillaries are difficult to keep out of the ground, and should be planted immediately they are received. September and October are the best months for planting them. Bulbs in general, including those mentioned, may however be planted much later.

Ladies and Gentlemen are respectfully informed, that if the choice of the Hyacinths is left to J. Carter, he will guarantee their giving entire satisfaction.

J. Carter requests his customers to inform him whether the Hyacinths are intended for water, pots, or the open borders; also whether double or single Hyacinths are preferred, or part of each. If the selection is left to him, he generally sends two-thirds double and one-third single, which will be found not only to give greater variety, but also to ensure a succession of bloom. Hyacinths may be arranged with much more effect when there are duplicates or triplicates of the same kind.
